

ALEXANDRIA, VA.

MONDAY, FEBUARY 8, 1875.

The Conservative Legislative caucus has knocked all to pieces the report of the committee which sat at Orkney Springs last summer, and has decided to recommend the prepayment of the Poll Tax as a condition for the exercise of suffrage, and the conviction of petty larceny to disqualify the party from voting. They have also decided not to recommend viva voce voting, and not to alter the present system of taxation for school purposes, and not to submit the question of calling a convention and not to allow the Legislature to be clothed with power to levy a greater poll tax than at present. They are considering a proposition to strike from the constitution the clause in relation to dueling. Two really important amendments are yet to be acted upon: Biennial instead of annual sessions of the Legislature, and the reduction of the number of members of the General Assembly, neither of which seems to meet with any great favor.

The Bultimore American says: - "A partial canvass of the Senate shows that the radical Republicans are not satisfied with the Civil Rights bill which passed the House of Representatives, and that it will not be accepted by the Senate. An effort will be made to throw both bills into the hands of a conference committee, but it is not probable that they can agree upon any measure which will be satisfactory to both branches of Congress. The Republican majority in the House of Representatives are not disposed to accept any measure which is broader than the one passed by them.'

The standing committee of the Protestant Episcopal Church for the diocese of Maryland has presented Rev. Joseph Richey, rector, and Rev. G. B. Perry, assistant, of Mount Calvary Church, to Bishop Whittingham on the charge of using prayers for the dead involving the doctrice of purgatory. The act complained of was the reading of the commendatory prayer for the dying at the burial service of the late Rev. J. B. Morss. It is expected the trial will proceed at once before an ceclesiastical court.

Brevet Brigadier General Wm. Hays, U. S. army, died at Fort Independence, Boston harbor, of organic disease of the heart, on Saturday. He was born in Richmond, Va., appointed to West Point from Tennessee, and graduated in 1840. He served through the Mexican war, and was brevetted captain and major. He served through the late war, and for the last few years has commanded at Fort Independence, and had charge of the coast defenses of Massachusetts.

The taking of depositions in the Platte-Goode contest were commenced in Richmond on Saturday. Gov. Kemper, Treasurer Hunter and other members of the State Board of Canvassers were ordered to be summoned by Platt. Judge Hughes would not issue a summons for Gov. Kemper, but merely sent a request for him to be present at an hour earlier than the other witnesses. This observation of the amenities of official life is to the credit of Judge Hughes.

William Hooper and William Henry Hays, of Charlottesville, had a difficulty on Friday, 29th of January, in which Hays struck Hooper several times in a stable while currying mules. Hooper retreated to the stable-yard, followed by Hays, who was still striking him. Hooper then struck Hays with acurrycomb, which he had in his hand, on the left temple, from the effects of which Hays died on Thursday | the strikers can hinder them.

The Richmond correspondent of the Petersburg News says: -"It is stated that the Virginia Legislature will be asked to endorse the Texas and Pacific Railroad subsidy. Some lobbyists have been skirting our Legislative horizon and chappagne dinners have been given at vast expense by parties well known not to have had during the previous 12 months money enough to buy a box of paper collars."

Attorney General Williams appeared before the select committee on Alabama affairs on Saturday, and was interrogated as to his sending troops into Alabama last fall. It appeared he had had no correspondence with the Gov- ed some three weeks ago. No reasons are given ernor of the State on the subject, but acted on for the declination. information from other sources.

It is said that the bill to regulate elections in the States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia. Alabama, Louisiana and Fiorida. and the bill to empower the President to suspeud the writ of habeas corpus in certain emergeneies, will, no doubt, be presented in Congress this week.

Samuel J. Carrington, son of Colonel J. L. Carrington, proprietor of the Exchange Hotel, in Richmond, died on Friday. Mr. Carrington was well known to the travelling public. At the time of his death Mr. C. was in the thirty-seventh year of his age. He leaves a cock introduced a bill to amend an act entitled wife and two children.

The expected message of the President on Southern affairs will, it is understood, comprise principally the statements and recommendations which he has sought to impress upon Senators and members during his frequent visits to the capitol in the last few weeks.

Mr. Hoar and his colleagues are as fully convinced as the Foster sub-committee were that the Returning Board perpetrated a very gross fraud upon Louisiana by making up a Republican majority in the House of Delegates, and that the decisions of the committee will give the House over to the control of the Conservatives. The Conservative House of Delegates first consented to accept it, whereupon McEuery and his adherents bolted, and got up an opposition meeting, at which resolutions were adopted pledging the Conservative party to a steady the law has been violated by preparations to opposition to any compact which involved the recognition of the Kallogg Government. Another difficulty appears in the attitude of the members who constitute the Kellogg House of Delegates, as they will not consent that Mr. Hoar's Committee shall turn out the half dozen members who constitute the majority.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

"To show the very age and body of the Times"

The drought in the Eastern States is becoming a question of very serious consideration. In some quarters melted snow is the only drink that can be furnished the cattle, and in others their owners are shipping them off to prevent their dying of thrist. There were no rains previous to the beginning of cold weather, and, unless there are heavy spring rains, the dry ground may prove as detrimental to the Eastero crops as the grasshoppers have to those of
